

Debate Men To Be Chosen November 17

Large Number of Veteran Debaters in School Will Make Competition
Keen This Year

Keen competition is promised all who try out in the preliminary contest for places on the intercollegiate debate team which will be held the afternoon of November 17th. The interest shown in debating, the large group of veteran debaters in school, and the extended forensic program for this year have combined to cause what promises to be a large turnout of experienced forensic aspirants.

The question, That the 18th Amendment be Repealed, is of extensive interest at this time and will form an excellent vehicle with which to display Lawrence debate talent. There is scarcely an individual on or off the campus who will not be interested either in expounding his views or listening to argument pro and con on this question.

Lawrence is particularly fortunate in the large squad of experienced forensic men who will form the nucleus of the squad. Both Dan Hardt and Willard Henoch, '26, will complete four years of successful debating this spring. Winfred Bird, '26, served for the last two years on Lawrence teams and with Henoch made the Western tour of last spring. Chester Seftenberg, '26, third member of the trio which met and defeated some of the leading Western college teams, leaves at the close of this quarter to coach debate at Oshkosh High School. George Christensen, '26, and Gordon Clapp, '27, are both men of two year's experience and should prove valuable material. Philip Mitchell, '26, and Ray Fink, '27, served in several of the non-decision debates with Ripon, Beloit, and Carroll last year. There are several freshmen with excellent high school records who are also entering the try-out.

Ten men will be selected at this try-out and from this number the six regular debaters will be selected.

The program includes ten or fifteen non-decision debates with state and mid-west colleges and several inter-sectional decision debates in Appleton with some of the country's leading debate teams. Plans are being made to entertain on an Appleton platform speakers from Washington State College, of Pullman Washington, University of Southern California, Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, and Bates College of Maine. Bates has debated Oxford both in Maine and in England and is rated one of the strongest forensic teams in the country.

The teams will be coached by Professor A. L. Franzke, assisted by Dr. A. A. Trevor. All who intend to try out should report immediately to Prof. Franzke at the Forensic Board Office, room 30.

Rosebush Introduces Coolidge at Meeting

Judson J. Rosebush, trustee of Lawrence College, introduced President Coolidge at an international meeting of the Y.M.C.A. held at Washington, D. C., very recently. Mr. Rosebush presided at the meetings as chairman of the last international convention at Atlantic City. He is still in Washington attending a meeting of the national council of the Y.M.C.A., which will close Saturday.

Mr. Rosebush is one of the principal donors of Lawrence College, and is a prominent member of the committees on finance and endowment, investment, nominating, and executive.

Three other Appleton men, George F. Werner, G. E. Buchanan, and F. J. Harwood, represented the local "Y" at this meeting.

First Meeting of Y. W. at Hamar House Sunday

A new era in the work of the Y. W. C. A. on the campus was opened by the meeting at Hamar House Sunday evening. Mrs. J. R. Denyes, in her talk to the girls at this time, emphasized the significance of the first meeting in the new house and the importance of having the courage and faith to carry out the work which the girls have begun. She expressed the wish that the ideal of Olive Hamar might be realized, that this new social center might be a source of inspiration to the campus.

The devotional part of the meeting was led by Helen Norris; Eleanor McKibben gave a vocal selection.

30 Students Get Staff Positions On The Lawrentian

Try-out Period of Six Weeks Ends
With Thirty Applicants
Making Staff

The final staff-list of the Lawrentian, numbering about thirty, is the result of six weeks of try-outs. The following is the successful line-up:

Department Heads

Copy editor, Choro Thurman.
Clubs, Helen Duncan.
Personals and Society, Lillian Seybold, Dorothy Von Berg.
Book Reviews, Herbert Webster.
"Dust Pan", Harlan Haekbert.
Exchange Editor, Carola Trittin.
Sports Editor, Gordon McIntyre (acting for the past five weeks; at present, forced to resign because of pressure of other work).

Reporters

Sports: Royal LaRose, Steven Cincoski, Carl Thompson, George Dreher.
General: Grace Hannagan, Helena Koletzke, John Taras, Mary Gregory, Helen Guttelman, Jean Christianson, Chester Seftenberg, Elsa Grimmer, Milton Leadholm, Bernice Case, Don Hood, James Ford, Ethel Blake, Lor-an Hancy, Harry Snyder, Marshall Hulbert and Merle Hibbert.

Department Heads For 1927 Ariel are Selected

The department heads selected by Gordon Clapp for the 1927 Ariel are: administrative editor, John Taras; senior editor, Gertrude Walton; junior editor, Helen Davy; underclass editor, Herbert Weber; activities editor, Forrest Muck; college life editor, Wilma Thiede; sports editor, Royall La Rose; organizations editor, Helen Diederick; humor editor, Harold Bachman.

The Ariel will undergo several changes this year. There will be eight additional pages, and a two-color scheme will be used throughout the book. Instead of allowing two pages for each campus organization only one will be given. This is done to bring about a better balanced page. The printing will be done by the Meyer Press of Appleton and the engraving by John Olliers and Co., at Chicago.

The biggest change and the one that will make this year's book outstanding is that the whole book will be worked out along a definite theme. This theme is based on Ariel in Shakespeare's "Tempest," in which Ariel is characterized as the carefree sprite. The entire book from cover to cover will be along this plan. It is hoped that this change will result in an improvement over former Ariels which have been merely a collection of events rather than a unified story of college life.

The staff will include about twenty-five members. The business staff consists of Richard Nelson (manager), Edna Neiss, Ruth Parkinson, Bernice Case, Dorothy Von Berg. No definite selection has yet been made of the rest of the staff.

Winfred Bird, '26, was at Stevens Point Saturday where he saw the Oshkosh-Stevens Point game.

Diplomat of Norway Gives Peace Talk

Explains Functions of League of Nations—Countries Must Be Interdependent

"The highest ideal, the ultimate aim of the League of Nations is to establish international peace and secure it," said Christian L. Lange, statesman and diplomat of Norway, in an address on "International Relations and The League" before the student body during Tuesday chapel hour.

In his address Mr. Lange stressed the necessity of interdependence of nations in social, economic, and financial affairs, and showed how such cooperation would eventually lead to world peace. He also showed the necessity of some permanent and constantly active body to promote and care for such international affairs.

The Norwegian statesman explained the assembly, council, and the secretariate service of the League of Nations, and the manner in which each functions. He gave several examples of the fine cooperative work of the League in the regulation of labor, international commerce, and national bankruptcy.

"If we are to have international agreement and no more wars, we must make foreign affairs our affairs, and work as interdependent nations. The League is still a new experiment, but it is so successful that in time to come it will cover a great scope, and there will be no limit to its horizon."

Mr. Lange is a member of Parliament of Norway and is also a member of the Hague Conference and The League of Nations. He is dean of the Interparliamentary Union, and was a joint winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in nineteen twenty one.

Mr. Lange attended the meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in United States in August and since that time has been making a tour of some of the universities and colleges of the United States.

President to Speak At Alumni Banquets

That Homecoming had the desired effect of increasing the interest of the alumni in their Alma Mater, is evidenced by the numerous alumni banquets which are soon to be held, according to Anders P. Anderson, secretary of the alumni association. The Milwaukee alumni banquet, at which Dr. Henry M. Wriston is to give the keynote speech, will be held on the fifth of this month. Dr. Wriston will also speak at the Chicago Alumni Banquet which will be held on the twelfth. Lawrence alumni of both cities are looking forward to this opportunity to meet our new president.

The first number of the "Lawrence Alumnus" for this year, the October number, is now out. Mr. Anderson, as secretary of the Alumni Association, is also editor of the alumni publication.

Elias is New Foreign Language Instructor

Because of the unexpected increase in Spanish enrollment, it has become necessary to procure an additional professor for the foreign language department. The new instructor, Mr. Edward Elias, comes from the University of Chicago, where he has been doing graduate work toward a doctor's degree. He has taken over several of Miss Sophie Baekhofen's German classes and one class in Spanish. Mr. Elias has taught at Kansas State Normal, at Purdue University, and more recently at Marietta College, Ohio.

Medley of Club Meetings To be Systematized

Eighteen clubs, ten social sororities, plus two musical, eight social fraternities, seven honorary fraternities, four student government bodies, two dramatic societies, two student publications, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., band, glee club, Schola Cantorum, and four classes on the campus, all having meetings! Unfortunately, there are only twelve hours in the day. When the Y. M. C. A. set its meeting for eight o'clock last Thursday evening, hardly a handful appeared because there was a great number of conflicting meetings. The Y. M. C. A. had formerly held its meetings on Sunday evenings.

The matter of getting some systematic social system was discussed at faculty meeting last Friday afternoon, and it was decided that Miss Georgia Bentley, secretary to the president, should keep a social calendar. Heads of organizations are expected to hand in dates to her, henceforth. She will then be able to give open dates to those who wish them. The success of this plan will depend upon faithful co-operation on the part of the students.

The faculty has tried to regulate meetings before, but decided that students were best able to take care of the matter themselves. Student Senate attempted to manage meetings last year, but they, too, gave up and left arrangements to the organizations. Some sort of system has grown up. For instance, sororities and fraternities all meet on Tuesday afternoons, and many other organizations have specific dates on which they meet. Apparently this system has not been entirely successful. Perhaps the trouble is that some students promiscuously join as many societies as possible, and are not able to attend to them all.

Donald Hood Elected Head of Class of '29

Donald Hood, Baraboo, will swing the gavel of the future class of '29, as the result of the final freshman election held Friday, October 30. More boys than girls participated in the election, the odds being eight to three in the former's favor.

Feminine candidates were up for three out of six positions to be filled, and the girls carried two out of the three offices. In the cases where opposite sexes were pitted against each other, Jean Christensen won over her rival, Milton Fortz, by a margin of two votes; this result was apparent only after a recounting and checking of the ballots for secretary. Roger Montague gained a decisive victory over his opponent, Frances Richardson, in the race for the office of treasurer.

Other results of the election, summarized, are as follows:

Candidates	No. Votes

A similar service is to be held here on November 24, when Mr. Wriston is to be inaugurated as president of Lawrence College.

Does or Doesn't the Class Bell Ring?

Sometimes the bell rings when it's supposed to and sometimes it doesn't ring at all, and it's all because we're lacking a janitor or two.

For some time Mr. Fadner's duties have been rather too heavy for him, so about three weeks ago his work was lightened. Now he is only responsible for the chapel. Students are ringing the bell and doing other odd jobs around Main Hall until a new janitor can be employed.

Our president, upon his arrival, expressed surprise at not finding a night watchman on our campus and has set about securing one. So far neither a watchman nor a janitor have been found and until they are the bell will continue to ring when it's supposed to, perhaps, and perhaps not at all.

Whiteman Players Is Next Number On Artist Series

Twenty-five Artists in Famous Orchestra of Paul Whiteman—Unusual Concert Promised

A concert for the student, the "tired business man," and the busy professor—that is the type of program offered by Paul Whiteman and his famous orchestra at Lawrence Memorial Chapel, Friday evening, November twentieth.

Although the name of Paul Whiteman is a household word throughout the country there are those who have yet to come into direct contact with the work and personality of this great artist of modern music. This personality has achieved a most remarkable success by drawing to it twenty five trained artists and by holding them together over a period of years so that perfect ensemble, and production of rhythm and tonal quality might be developed to its present state of excellence.

Last February Mr. Whiteman presented what he called an "Experiment in American Music" at the Aeolian Hall, New York City. It included compositions by Victor Herbert and George Gershwin, and demonstrated the real musical value of such works, as well as their qualities of interest. This concert, and a second concert the following month met with great success.

Judging from the unanimous approval by press and public of the superb work accomplished by Mr. Whiteman and his orchestra on these occasions, his coming engagement on the Appleton concert stage ought to be anticipated with the keenest enthusiasm.

Special emphasis is directed to the ticket sale for the concert which will open at Belling's Drug Store, November 10.

Mildred McEathron is Mortar Board Delegate

Mildred McEathron, '26, of Mayville, has been chosen Lawrence's delegate at the sectional conference of Mortar Board to be held November 7th at Minneapolis. Miss McEathron, president of the local organization, will present a paper on "What Mortar Board Can Do for the College Campus." Miss Evelyn Broderick of Appleton, director of the middle western section of the association, will attend the conference also.

Carroll Game Will Decide Championship

Superlative Brand of Football Necessary to Win Over Carroll Team
—Blues Determined to Win

Hardly hopeful of a victory, but filled with a grim determination to give the best that is in them, the Lawrence football squad leaves for Waukesha Saturday where they will meet the strongest eleven that has ever donned the moleskins for Carroll college. There is a battle royal in the offing, and the day of the game will see many Lawrentians wending their way to the Presbyterian gridiron. With the state championship hanging upon this contest, the old rivalry that has existed between the schools will show in every move that is made on the Carroll field. It is also the homecoming for the downstaters, and all of the returning alumni will be pulling for a Carroll victory.

The fact that the goal line of the Presbyterians has not been crossed this season is ample evidence that their eleven is a strong defensive one. They showed what they could do when they downed the Great Lakes team and Northwestern so easily. Hoffner and Mann are the consistent ground gainers for the Waukesha school, while Lund is a handy man who learned his football under Coach Tom Johnson of Marinette.

Catlin's men will have a great chance to show what they can do. They will have to play superlative football to win. The coaches will put most of their efforts on the line during the week, as the plunges of the downstaters must be stopped in order to make the best possible chance for a victory. Cooperation is what is needed in the line play, in which department the team was woefully lacking at Hamline. The return of Stark is a big factor in calculating the Lawrence chances. The big fellow has a world of strength and is a bear on defense. Nason will be a threat because of his droppicking ability and Capt. Briese should be feared by any eleven.

Do Tell!

Professor F. W. Clippinger's freshman Composition class was asked this week to identify some famous names. This is what he discovered on reading the reports:

Benedict Arnold was a priest who did much translation work many centuries ago.

Joseph Addison was a president of the United States.

Maude Adams, was a famous author. She and Addison were also "important people during the time of the early colonies at the time of George Washington."

Hans Christian Andersen was a Danish explorer.

Pasquale Amato was a Spanish author, and Italian leader, and merely a Frechman.

Aristotle was an old scientist.

Miss Denyes to Speak in Milwaukee Church Sunday

Because of her extensive experiences and ability as a speaker Miss Mary Denyes has been asked to speak at the Grand Avenue Congregational Church of Milwaukee next Sunday, November 8.

In the afternoon Miss Denyes will speak to the high school young people on the subject of Java. Her talk will concern her experiences and the home-life of that country. Her addresses in the evening to the Young People's Society has "Borneo and Sumatra" as its subject.

Race for Debate Championship Looks Interesting

With about sixty high schools of the state signifying their desire to become members of the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Debating League, the race for state championship promises to be the most hotly contested of any in the past fifteen years. At no time in the history of the league have so many schools applied for membership this early in the debate season. The fact that forensics has been augmented considerably among the high schools this year indicates that the change recently made in the constitution of the league has been favorably received. Heretofore under the old triangular system of grouping, two-thirds of the schools enrolled were eliminated after the first series of debates, but an amendment recently passed by the league members provides that each school shall have four independent debates before the school is eliminated, regardless of whether the debates have been won or lost. After these debates have been held, nine schools who have won the largest number of points will be selected to continue the competition for state championship.

Thus the prospects of having four debates before the possibility of elimination provides an incentive to all schools and especially to the smaller high schools who have a limited number from which to select their debate squad. An additional incentive is provided by a second amendment permitting one half of the debate squad to be composed of girls. Experience has proven that many schools have girls who can far outstrip the boys in debating ability.

The question to be debated is a most excellent one on which to find material and has, by far, become the most popular question ever debated by the high schools. It is as follows: Resolved—"That Congress should be granted power, by federal amendment, to regulate the employment of all persons under eighteen years of age." This question with four others was submitted to the league members for their vote and was given first choice by a considerable margin. An extensive bibliography has been prepared by the Governing Board and has been sent out to league members.

The Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Debating League was established at Lawrence College fifteen years ago by Professor F. W. Orr for the purpose of developing an interest in forensic work among high school students. Each year it has grown until last year its membership included seventy-five high schools representing every district of the state. Although most of the largest schools are members, these schools have not been able to win the state championship the majority of times. Three years ago Humboldt was the champion and last year Ft. Atkinson defeated Kaukauna for the honor. A large loving cup is given to the victor which is held for one year and then passed on to the next year's champion.

CLUBS

FRENCH CLUB

French Club announces the election of the following new members: Rosanna Bennett, Ethel Blake, Helen Duncan, Elizabeth Earle, George Empson, Pearl Felton, Virginia Geddes, Grace Hannagan, Monica Jones, Elizabeth Kretlow, Katharine Livingston, Mary Morton, Helen Packard, Nellie Stowe, and Marion Worthing.

A musical program will be presented by Barbara Ruch, Chloé Thurman and Marshall Hulbert at the next regular meeting of the club, Monday, November 9th at Hamar House.

ATHENA

Athena entertained in honor of its patronesses on Thursday evening, October 29th. Mrs. A. A. Trever, Mrs. J. H. Farley, Mrs. R. M. Bagg and Mrs. E. E. Emme were guests of honor. The program was in charge of Marion Boedecker, '28, who read "Maker of Dreams" by Oliphant Down.

ENGLISH CLUB

Calvin Russell Holmes, a senior at Northwestern University, and a promising young poet, will address the English Club at an open meeting on Friday, November 6th at 4 p.m. at the Hamar House. Mr. Holmes, who is a member of the "Scribblers" fraternity, and who edits the "Scribble," a literary magazine published quarterly at Northwestern, was awarded the Northwestern Poetry Prize in 1924. His works have received the attention of several prominent literary people, among them Mrs. Schuster-Martin of the Schuster-Martin School of Reading. During the past summer many of Mr. Holmes' poems were read by Mrs. Martin at various of her literary programs at Epworth Heights, Ludington, Michigan.

The works of the poet E. E. Cummings will be Mr. Holmes' subject, and English Club members are trying to arrange the program so that the speaker will be able to read and discuss some of his own works.

Because of the difficulty which departmental clubs experience in obtaining outside speakers, English Club is opening this meeting to all students who are literarily inclined and who desire to hear this young poet.

Since the league was organized, several attempts have been made by other colleges to establish similar leagues but with the exception of one college, all have withdrawn in favor of Lawrence, who was the first to pioneer public speaking work among the high schools of Wisconsin. The league which is sponsored and financed by the college and headed by a governing board composed of Professor A. L. Franzke, chairman, Dr. D. O. Kinsman, Dr. A. A. Trever and Harry Snyder, secretary, is directly responsible to, and governed by, the high schools which constitute its membership. Any high school in the state will be enrolled upon the receipt of two dollars membership fees.

Robert Stair, '25, and Hallam Weed, '29, were at Minneapolis for the Hamline-Lawrence game.

English Club Libe Has Many Popular Novels

Are you all caught up on the latest fiction? The English Club has about three dozen popular novels over at the library. They are on display in an open book shelf near the desk, and can be procured in the usual manner from the librarian. A rate of two cents a day is charged.

Most recent additions are "The Crystal Cup," by Gertrude Atherton, "Caravan," by John Galsworthy, "One Increasing Purpose," by A. S. M. Hutchinson, "The Great Pandolfo," by William J. Locke, "Christina Alberta's Father," by H. G. Wells, "The Professor's House," by Willa Cather, "Little Ships," by Kathleen Norris, and "The Red Lamp," by Mary Roberts Rhinehart.

This library was started two years ago, the rate then being five cents a day. All receipts have gone for the purchase of new books. With the increasing popularity of these volumes, the club has been able to reduce the charge.

High School Students To Present Musical Play

"The Bells of Beaujolais," a two act operetta by David Stevens and Louis Coerne will be presented by the glee club and orchestra of Appleton high school under the musical direction of Carl S. McKee, instructor of voice at the conservatory. A personal of about one hundred students will take part in the operetta, which will be presented at Lawrence Memorial Chapel on December 4.

Mr. McKee, who is director of music at Appleton high school, will be assisted in the presentation of "The Bells of Beaujolais" by Miss Ruth MacKenna, director of dramatics.

Methodist Students' Hallowe'en Party

The burning curiosities of approximately one hundred and twenty-five Lawrence students who wonderingly followed the Black Hands painted on the sidewalks Friday evening, October 30, were appeased when they found the royal welcome which awaited them at the new Methodist Church. The guests were first conducted to the mystic booth of the fortune teller where futures both joyous and disheartening were disclosed. Then came the ghastly trip through pitch black rooms wherein resided the brains of our ancestors, fiendish ghosts, skeletons, and the Imperial Witch, whose handshakes gave a tingling electric shock. In the Sunday School auditorium such stunts as the carolling of a dumb choir, and the convening of the three witches of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" about a seething cauldron wherein flamed canned alcohol, furnished hilarious entertainment. Refreshments were served in the Recreation Room.

The party was sponsored by the Epworth League of the Methodist Church. Bernard Herriek, '27, was chairman of committees; Esther Miller had charge of invitations; Doris Blake, '28, supervised the refreshments; and Tom McKenzie, '28, planned the decorations.

Beta Sigma Phi entertained about twenty-five couples at a Hallowe'en party, Friday, October 30, at the Beta house on E. John Street. Cornstalk decorations gave the frolic a festive Hallowe'en atmosphere. Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Crow chaperoned.

Bemberg, and "Come Out in the Sweet Spring Night Serenade" by Gillberte, — Pearl Felton; and "Soaring" by Robert Schumann, — Eleanor Jacobson. The patronesses of the sorority were guests at the banquet. Miss Ritchey has been visiting Xi chapter for the purpose of planning the national convention of Sigma Alpha Iota which is to be held in Appleton next fall.

Miss Violet Older, who is teacher of piano at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, was presented with the Ring of Excellence of Sigma Alpha Iota. The receiving of this ring is the highest honor that can come to anyone in the sorority, for it signifies executive power as well as exceptionally outstanding musical ability.

In honor of their national president, Xi Xi Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota entertained at a luncheon in the French Room of the Conway Hotel Wednesday noon, October 27.

Delta Gamma entertained at tea in honor of Mrs. Woollett, its Grand President; Mrs. Tompkins, Chairman of Convention; and Miss Miller, Province Secretary, at the home of Mrs. L. H. Moore on Union Street, Thursday, October 29.

Dormitories Give Hallowe'en Dinners

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Merritt Wriston and their two children were guests of honor at the Hallowe'en dinner given at Ormsby Thursday evening, October 29. Before the dinner a reception for the guests was held in the parlors.

The annual Sage Hallowe'en dinner was held Friday evening, October 30. The dining hall was lighted entirely by tall orange candles, and grinning black cats sporting huge orange bows occupied the place of honor in the center of each table.

Headlines and Make-up

The move now before the faculty, of abolishing "conditions" entirely, and "incompletes" except in cases of illness or accident, is of special interest to the students, coming as it does just at six-weeks grades time. Many students seem to feel that the change in grading standards will work a hardship on them. It is, however, the feeling among the majority of the faculty, that a "failure," rather than a condition or an incomplete, is an ultimate kindness to a student.

With the following facts under consideration, students themselves may come to realize the undesirability of such borderline grades, and the wisdom of their abolition.

A "condition" means that the student's grade hovers only a few points below seventy, and that he may have a chance to raise it later through special examination. Theoretically, it is a grade designed only for the students' benefit. Actually, it often works out into a godsend for a tender-hearted and harassed instructor, who not quite sure of what grade a poor student deserves, is thus saved giving a possibly undeserved flunk. With "conditions" abolished, the instructor must know his doubtful cases better, and be able, accurately and objectively, to designate whether or not a case is "passing" grade, or below it. If below it, the student is given an honest-to-goodness flunk, and a chance to repeat the course and possibly learn something in it. When a "condition" is given, the result is often hasty cramming, poorly prepared make-up work, and a bare seventy which means nothing at all.

"Incompletes," in theory, are to be given in cases of illness and other special circumstances which have made it impossible for a student to be judged upon his work. Actually, they have often been used in the past at Lawrence, in cases where students, through laziness or carelessness, have not handed in enough written work so that the professor feels qualified to grade them. The present move among the faculty is not to abolish "incompletes" entirely, but merely to restrict them to their justifiable use.

Why, then, is the abolition of conditions and unjustifiable incompletes an ultimate kindness to the student? First, if you care to place it there—because the best schools in the country are following the practice. Good schools means valuable degrees, and valuable degrees mean good salaries.

More vital than the financial gain to the student, however, is the mental and moral value in having to keep his work up to a definite standard. "Conditions" and many "incompletes" mean the messy attainment of an indefinite standard. Under a firm, definite standard of attainment, a passing grade can mean but one thing—honestly satisfactory work.

ON DANCE SKIPS

It is no longer necessary for Lawrence girls to get permission from home to attend dances of a nature approved by the college. The college has done its share in sponsoring the all-college dance. Each class is allowed to sponsor its own dance as are certain other organizations on the campus. Each sorority and each fraternity is allowed two dances each year. The college approves of Woman's Club dances and the students are given permission to attend them.

First "student": "Say, how is that woman you had out last night—hot?"
Second "ditto": "Hot! Why man, she's so hot that when she's all wet, she steams!"

After someone found a spring in the hash at one of the dorms the other day, we were not surprised to hear one young man remark that he thought the hash was "all wet."

Cup reporter (about ten o'clock Thursday morning) Here's a good story for today's paper. It was due Saturday, but I went home over the week-end.

"Six Weeks" has a sinister sound, but it is not the title of Elinor Glyn's latest. It is the greatest curse of Lawrence life. During this time, we see wild-eyed students dashing through the halls in feverish haste, or gathered mournfully around the remnants of a stricken comrade. The hopes of earning

Each fraternity is allowed to have as many house parties as it desires during the year at which dancing is allowed.

Considering that this form of amusement for young people is healthy and desirable under approved conditions, then is there any reason why the girls of the college should be allowed only eight dance permissions each year? If a girl attends her two sorority dances and say—two fraternity dances, a representative dance or so, her class dance, and a Woman's Club dance, then her dancing privileges for the year are over unless she devises some mysterious means of attendance, which is usually the case. However, once in a while we find the popular, conscientious girl refusing dance bids from January until the end of the year so that she may have one skip left for her own spring dance. You don't believe that, do you?

This seems to be a situation, partly unrealized, and one which invites the breaking of rules when the particular function is one above criticism. Would it not be a pleasanter situation if the idea of dance skips did not enter into the social program?

Menasha Year Book Gets All-American Rating

Miss Elfrieda Hampel, '18, is responsible in a great part for the success of the "Nicolet," the Menasha High School year book, which received an All-American rating, according to the recent decision of the Intercollegiate Press Association at Madison, Wisconsin. The "Nicolet" is the only year book from a school of its size to receive this rating, which is the highest of the classifications into which the books are divided by the judges of this association.

Miss Hampel worked for three years on the Ariel, the Lawrence College year book, and on the Lawrentian.

GLOOM-CHASING LAWRENTIANS!

If you can "do a little dance or sing a little song"; if you pack a mean Duofold and can produce a clever plot, you're just the one we want.

Tormentors of Lawrence will produce their second annual show in February. If a play be written and a chorus "stepped" into shape by that time so that a finished production be presented, work must go forward at once.

If you are working out a plot, synopsis, skit, musical stunt or attraction which might be produced on the stage; let us know about it. A cash prize will be given for the best plot or synopsis acceptable production handed in before Nov. 10 to Ray Richards, president, or to any other Tormentor.

Singers and players! Keep in practice! Prancers keep prancing. Calls for tryouts for the Big Show will be issued in a few weeks.

Yours for some fun,

Tormentors.

Opinion and Comment

To The Student Body:

Last Friday at student chapel it was announced that the Sunset Players were to present a play and had failed in filling their appointment. The actual facts in the case, as was later revealed, are that Sunset Players had not been notified by the senate as to the exact date; therefore, the failure of the Sunset group in not presenting their play last Friday was due to a misunderstanding on the part of both parties involved, and not to negligence on the part of the club.

Book Reviews

All glaring incongruities discovered in these book reviews will kindly be ascribed to the proof-reader, the office-boy, or the mayor of this city. The reviewers are very precise individuals, and seldom make mistakes except upon examination papers.

Portrait of a Man With Red Hair, by Hugh Walpole: George H. Doran Company, $2.

Fritz Kreisler is accustomed to take Viennese folk-songs of obvious and offensive vulgarity, and with a few tricks of transcription turn them into entrancing and enjoining little melodies. This principle of refinement may be applied to literature, as well as music. Hugh Walpole, always a first-rate novelist, has in fact done it with an E. Phillips Oppenheim plot. He has modified a few points, that would have been crude in less skillful hands; he has added a few deft touches of his own, and we have offered to us a very absorbing novel. It is a decided relief to turn to such well-balanced workmanship, after the incoherent efforts of so many authors.

There are few novelists more skilled than Walpole in the art of presentation. This stands him in good stead in the present work, and he is able to sustain an extraordinary high standard of plot and characterization through some three hundred pages.

The tale concerns Charles Percy Harkness, a young New Englander living in London. He is an artist in taste, a recluse in temperament, and a passive spectator of life through circumstance. The advice of a casual acquaintance (none other than James Maradick) sends him to Trellis, a Cornish town, for his vacation. Here he is plunged into a maze of intrigue and adventure which would delight the hearts of any movie audience. The novelist handles this with such skill and proportion, however, that it never becomes absurd or common. It is integrated perfectly with the higher purpose of the book, namely to give a portrait of Mr. Crispin, "the man with red hair." Walpole succeeds very well in his endeavor. Many authors sacrifice character to plot, or let their plots fall into agreeable latencies, while they wander in the labyrinth of characterization. The Portrait of a Man With Red Hair shows no evidence of these difficulties.

In attempting a final estimate I would not rank this book beside Fortitude or The Cathedral, because it is more confined in scope than the latter volumes. It is a novel to read, when one wishes to forget the whole stream of life in one of its mysterious, beckoning little ripples. Within this limitation it is emphatically of the best order, and admirers of Walpole will not be disappointed in it. H. T. W.

Miss Viola Buntrock, instructor in piano at the Lawrence Conservatory, played the following selections in chapel, Wednesday, Oct. 28: "Rustle of Spring" by Sinding, Wolfe's "Love Novel," "La Chasse" by Liszt, and Nieman's "Chinatown" as an encore.

Chapel Platform To Be Enlarged and Improved

A blue curtain about six feet from the back wall is to take the place of the scaffolding that was on the chapel platform all last week, announces Dean Francis M. Ingler, assistant manager of the college building program. The stage will be enlarged and repaired, and the lighting system revised.

The room below the chapel stage is being redecorated in fresco effect and an indirect lighting arrangement is to be installed. Then this room will be used for various art exhibits, for the Wednesday night philosophy class, and for the Athena club rooms. It may be also obtained for any groups or meetings of about 150 to 200 persons.

Dr. Fairfield explained the solution of painters' problems of line and color, and called attention to masterpieces in each field of painting.

Personals

Gerald Holdridge, '25, one of our former football men, was the guest of Phi Kappa Tau brothers this weekend. He played on the team here his last two years and was a member of the athletic board. He also had an active interest in dramatics, having been one of the Sunset Players, and took a part in the college play his junior year. Mr. Holdridge was elected to Mace, honorary fraternity, while in college. At present he is teaching in the Chilton High School.

Orville Kissel, '23, of Hartford, spent the week-end at the Theta Phi house. He is now traveling for the Kissel Motor Company.

Mildred Friday, Mu Phi, has returned from the hospital where she has been confined for the past week with an attack of pleurisy.

Marjorie Neller, ex-'28, visited with Phi Mu sisters last week-end. Marjorie was one of our artists who drew the cartoons for the 1926 Ariel last year. This year she is attending the Art Institute of Chicago and is teaching art in the public schools of that city.

Dr. D. O. Kinsman is recovering nicely from his operation for appendicitis, and expects to return to his home on Tuesday. Next week he will probably resume his class work, which is now in charge of Mr. Mundhenke.

Physics Club to Visit at Hospital

Although the first meeting of Physics Club of the month is to convene in the lobby of St. Elizabeth Hospital, at 7:00 p.m. sharp, Tuesday evening, November 10, this trip is not due to any electrocution or other accident to the members. Rather, the club is to be especially privileged in having Dr. Sandborn, X-Ray Specialist of this city, demonstrate the modern use of X-Ray apparatus for medical purposes.

The club is permitted to have twenty people at the hospital. This makes room for four besides those who have already joined the club. If you are at all interested from either the physical or medical point of view, you are cordially welcome, says Dr. A. D. Power, provided you speak to him beforehand.

The department has decided to have this year's club a general physics club instead of limiting it entirely to radio students who are interested in the subject, whether or not they are members of the department, are invited to become members of the club. The regular meeting nights are the second and fourth Tuesday in each month.

An eight pound son was born to Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Clippinger at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Tuesday, Oct. 27. Both Frank Warren, Junior and Mrs. Clippinger are said to be doing nicely.

Giant Puff-ball Added to Botanical Collection

A giant puff-ball, recently received, is one of the most interesting prizes in the botanical collection in Science Hall. It was collected by Mr. Charles Simpson, a local contractor, on his farm not far from Appleton.

The puff-ball measures 12 inches in diameter, and contains about 850 cubic inches of matter. Professor W. E. Rogers stated that he had seen only a few of a larger size, and he was very much pleased with the new specimen.

In the late fall the matter inside the ball changes to a powder, and a very repugnant odor is emitted. However, Professor Rogers assures timid students that there is no danger of an explosion.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Lawrence Trims Hamline Eleven In Thrilling Game

In a game replete with thrills furnished by the playing of Briese, Boettcher and Nason, Lawrence earned its way to a 12 to 0 victory over Hamline College of St. Paul. Dropkicks in the first two periods by Briese and Nason, the latter's from the 43 yard line, made up the scoring for the 1st half.

Nason's dropkick from practically the center of the gridiron was a beauty. The ball soared majestically in the air, describing an arc that carried it directly over the center of the goal posts.

The scoring in the last half was the result of a pass, Nason to Briese, who romped 15 yards with it for a touchdown. The rest of the game resolved itself into a defensive stand for the Lawrentians, who were content to take things easy with a view of saving themselves for the coming Saturday's game against Carroll. The Blue line easily smothered all Hamline rallying attempts in the final lap of the game. It is upon the success that crowns their efforts that the outcome of the Carroll battle hinges on.

Tennis Tourney Postponed

Due to weather conditions, and the fact that the tennis courts were covered with snow, the semi-finals and finals in the fall tennis tournament were all postponed. If the weather conditions permit, the games will be played off this week, or as soon as the courts are ready. Games in the city tournament were also postponed indefinitely, but will be played off later.

NOTICE!

All freshman men who are interested in applying for the positions of freshman basketball managers are asked to report to Coach A. C. Denny sometime this week. Two men are to be selected from those applying.

South Section of Brokaw League Copping Honors

Athletic activities around Brokaw Hall which this fall called for a play-ball league show that the South section nine has an edge over the other teams and shows promise of copping the honors. Games are being played on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on Whiting field, and each of these periods finds a number of Brokaw enthusiasts out working off their surplus energy.

Tuesday of last week gave the North section a 3 to 2 win over the Proctors, and the South section a 10 to 4 win over the Center section. Thursday afternoon the South section again copped this time from the Proctors 10 to 4. The Center section took the boys in North into camp 12 to 7.

All Football Games Insured Against Rain

Do you know this about our football games?

Interviewing Prof. Fred Trezise, manager of Catlin's men, the Lawrentian reporter was informed that all the football games are insured against rain, snow, or hail.

The insurance is usually taken out to cover the hours between ten and one, the day of the game. People decide between these hours whether or not they will attend the game, and if the weather is disagreeable around the noon hour, they often decide not to go, and hence, the gate receipts suffer.

The total insurance carried is determined by the net income from the game or the difference between receipts and expenditure. The average premium is eight dollars for a thousand dollars' insurance, but it varies in different localities and time of the year. In Appleton it is higher in November than in October.

The insurance is based on the amount of precipitation of rain, snow, or hail, and if one-tenth of an inch falls in one hour, the guarantee is one thousand dollars. The precipitation is measured by a rain gauge in the meteorological department.

Basketball Managers

Donovan "Swede" Erickson, Kewaunee, Ill., was named as varsity basketball manager early last week. Ray Richards, frosh manager last year has been named as assistant varsity manager.

W.A.A. Hikes Scheduled

A group of girls under the leadership of Helen Moore, who is head of hiking this year, took a two hour cross-country hike on Friday afternoon, October 30. Hikes are scheduled every Friday afternoon. Girls working for W. A. A. points should take advantage of this opportunity.

Saturday's Games
Lawrence vs. Carroll (Little Five)
Ripon at Beloit
Hamline vs. Carleton at Northfield.
Knox vs. Coe at Cedar Rapids
Monmouth vs. Cornell at Mt. Vernon.

Carroll Defeats Northwestern
Carroll college did the expected thing Saturday when the husky grid-ers trounced Northwestern of Watertown by a score of 20 to 0. It was an easy victory for Coach Armstrong's boys, who scored almost at will. Capt. Hoefherr of Carroll starred with his long gains on end runs and spectacular returns of punts.

Beloit Uncovers New Star

A new star twinkled in the Beloit college football firmament here Saturday when Everett Purdy, 135 pound halfback, who is a sophomore and has just completed his six months residence period as required by the mid-west conference, led the unbeaten Beloit team to a sparkling 16 to 7 win over Coe college of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Purdy kicked, passed, ran and outgassed Coe, and with a powerful Beloit line in front of him, was able to get away for repeated runs, and to launch repeated successful passes in spite of a slippery field. The win puts Beloit in the lead in the mid-west conference and drops Coe out of the running, this being the second defeat for the Kohawks.

Kick Wins for Cornell

Cornell defeated Knox, 7 to 6, before a homecoming crowd of 4,000 here this afternoon. After the teams had battled on even terms in the sea of mud the first three quarters, Cornell opened up a forward passing attack. A long pass, Dean to Green, started a rally that resulted in a touchdown, Green carrying the ball across. Green kicked for extra point.

The remaining teams in the Mid-west Conference played outside games. Ripon took a rest over the week-end.

PUNTS and FUMBLES

By "Mac"

Saturday's game with Carroll will decide the Little Five championship and incidentally the so-called state championship. But according to the proverbial dope bucket, Lawrence is not to be returned the winner. Carroll has an eleven that has been built up for several years and this fall probably has reached its peak. The Pioneers boast a line par excellence and a backfield that will cause considerable trouble.

Beloit again ran off with a victory and now leads the Midwest conference with a perfect record and the inside track to the wire. Scouts at Beloit last week credit "Tommy" Mills with the greatest eleven that he has had in years. The line is composed of big rangy men, all veterans.

But it is in the backfield that Mills has a premier outfit. Saturday's game uncovered to the Midwest a new half back in the person of Everett Purdy, Beatrice, Nebraska. But Purdy is no stranger to former members of Appleton high school. They met Purdy on the gridiron in 1921 and again in 1922 and can vouch for his ability to run, pass and kick.

Lawrence ought to win the cross country race here Saturday morning with Marquette university of Milwaukee. Conclusions are based on the fact that Northwestern of Naperville finished ahead of Marquette in their meet last week and Lawrence holds a win over Northwestern. The dope gives Melvin "Buster" Shimek, Marquette flash, the first place, but Lawrence ought to cop enough points after Buster crosses the line to give the Blue and White a victory.

A Colorado Pioneer

James P. Maxwell, a Lawrentian graduate of the class of '59, celebrated his eighty-sixth anniversary on June 18, 1925, at Silver Lake, Colorado. Mr. Maxwell entered Lawrence College in 1854 and graduated in 1859 with A. B. degree. In February, 1859, he aided in establishing here the Wisconsin Beta chapter, of Phi Delta Theta, which was withdrawn after the Civil War.

Mr. Maxwell has retired from the presidency of the First National Bank of Boulder, Colorado. At the age of eighty-six, he participated in the dedication ceremonies at which the new road from Denver to Rainbow Lakes was named Maxwell Highway in his honor. "Maxwell Road" is the inscription borne on a huge boulder at the entrance of this pass.

Marquette Runners vs. Lawrence Nov. 7

The defeat of Marquette by Northwestern Saturday in cross-country with a 31 to 24 score gives Lawrentians a basis for comparing Lawrence and Marquette runners who will meet Saturday morning, Nov. 7 on Whiting field. Lawrence previously won from Northwestern by a 31 to 24 score. Shimek, the Kenosha flyer, will undoubtedly romp off with first place laurels, but Marcomb, Purvis, Locklin and Kingsbury should win the meet for Lawrence by following Shimek in.

The four easily defeated the Northwestern squad with the exception of Brooks, and Shimek was the only Marquette man to win over the Northwestern runners. Lawrence should win the run handily. It will be an opportunity to see one of the best races staged here and will feature Melvin Shimek, the middle west's speed merchant.

As an experiment in vocational training, fifty Yale men spent the summer in the Ford plant at Detroit.

Six Lawrentians On Vocational School Staff

Seven Lawrentians are members of the staff of the Appleton Vocational School this year. Herbert Heilig, '22, is principal. Miss Mabel Burke, '24, is director of women. Professor O. P. Fairfield is teaching a course in home decorating at the night school. Maurice Peerenboom, '27, is instructor in English for foreigners, and Harold Bachmann, '26, is teaching commercial work. James Ford, '28, is office assistant at the night school. Lawrence Zwicker, '28, is instructing in show-card writing.

Lawrence Debate Schedule Arranged

Decisions of considerable importance were made, and debate schedules were arranged at a conference of Wisconsin college debate coaches at Madison last Saturday. Albert L. Franke, professor of public speaking, meeting.

represented Lawrence College at the An agreement was made whereby all debaters will not in any sense speak against prohibition, the desirability of which is conceded; but the debates will center on the best method by which a successful enforcement can be achieved.

The following schedule, subject to change, is to be covered by the Lawrence debating teams this year:

Carroll at West Allis and Waupaca. Beloit at Lomira and Kaukauna.

Ripon at Kewaunee, Sturgeon Bay, Eau Claire, Cumberland, New Richmond, River Falls, Ellsworth, and probably Arcadia.

Some interstate debates are expected, including one with Cornell College, Iowa. From all appearances, the schedule will be unusually heavy.

"Demands of the Pedal" by Frampton in Etude

That the main difficulty of pedalling lies in the manipulation of the hands—not in the feet, is the theory supported by Professor John Ross Frampton of Lawrence Conservatory of Music in an article in the November Etude entitled "The Demands of the Pedal."

Failure to hold keys properly while using the pedals causes important tones to be lost or made "muddy," according to Professor Frampton. The proper accomplishment of pedal work is not impossible if "the time which the hand usually spends in the air in some graceful curve between keys, or resting on the key after change of pedal, can be spent on the key where the pedal must change," say Professor Frampton.

The honor system has been rejected at Harvard University by a unanimous vote of the committee to which it was referred.

Where Colorado, Utah and New Mexico Meet

"One of the most amazing corners of the United States," said Dr. J. B. MacHarg, in chapel Thursday, "is the one hundred-mile radius where the borders of Colorado, Utah, and New Mexico meet." This contains the ruins of a comparatively unknown Indian civilization which ranges back from 1,000 to 200 B.C. The same radius also contains the greatest field for investigation of evidences of early man in the United States. There are also geological phenomena there. Volcanic action has produced rivers of lava which are over 200 feet long, and which are more impressive than those of Italy.

Dr. MacHarg spoke upon observations gathered when he toured central United States this summer, lecturing at seventy Universities and colleges, and covering territory from North Dakota to Texas.

One site, said Dr. MacHarg, which contains unusual remains of an old Indian civilization, is called Pueblo Anitos, or Village Beautiful, and is situated in northwestern New Mexico. About a thousand years ago, the Indians built a massive community house, which contained one-hundred rooms, the ruins of which are still standing. This apartment house is larger than any built in New York city before 1892.

There are at least one hundred similar sites in this territory, all of comparatively recent discovery. In some of these, excavations are going on now, which are expected to throw great light on the ancient man of America. Dr. MacHarg cited that Charles Lummis, the son of a former Lawrence professor, Dr. Henry Lummis, was one of the first men to publish a book on this new subject.

Dr. MacHarg spent six days at the University of Oklahoma, at Norman, Oklahoma. There are 7,000 students there, most of whom have some Indian blood. The majority are fine looking, and very intelligent. There are five civilized Indian tribes making their home in this state. To illustrate the rapid growth of the territory, Dr. MacHarg spoke of the city of Norman which did not exist five years ago, but which now, besides the university, has a church three times as large as Appleton's new church.

On The Screen

Percy Marmont gives one of his best character portrayals in the role of "Easy Money" Charlie in "The Street of the Forgotten Men," which is Herbert Brenon's newest production for Paramount. The story deals with a petty panhandler who adopts a little girl and brings her up in ignorance of his profession, only to see the one fine thing in his life threatened with ruin through the evil plotting of one of his fellow crooks.

George Kibbe Turner, who wrote the story for Liberty Magazine has created an unusual and exceptionally interesting character in Easy Money Charlie. Most of the dramatic action of the story is laid in a dive near the Bowery to which flock the hopeless, battered wrecks whom life has forgotten—a novel background against which Charlie and the girl stand out appealingly.

Featured with Marmont in the cast of the production, which will be the feature at the Appleton Theatre on Monday to remain for 2 days, are Neil Hamilton and Mary Brian.

Books Presented to History Department

Dr. D. O. Kinsman and Mr. Wesley B. Pahl, ex-'26, have presented the American History department with material which will enable the department to meet more efficiently a requirement made by the founder of the department that Canadian history be taught as one of its courses.

Dr. Kinsman's gift is the "Chronicles of Canada" which is a set of thirty volumes, well illustrated and containing useful maps. Mr. Pahl has sent the department the latest material on Canadian provinces, which consists of text books, bound pamphlets, manuscripts and colored maps.

Lawrentian Tells of Trip to Scandinavia

Electric lights in the heart of the mountains of Norway, far up in the "land of the midnight sun"! These are what Agnes Norem, '27, saw during her stay among the native people of the Scandinavian countries this summer. The prevalence of electricity is due, says Miss Norem, to the vast amount of water power from the mountain waterfalls and is utilized to the greatest extent possible.

Miss Norem left New York June 20, sailing for Liverpool on the Adriatic. After visiting Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester, and Newcastle, she went directly to Christianssand, Norway, from which point she took various trips into the mountain and country districts. There she found the native people following many of the customs of their ancestors. The older people dress in native costume, and speak the dialect of their vicinity. They wish to keep the tradition alive, although the "younger generation" is eager to adopt the conventional dress worn in the cities.

After a week at Oslo, the capital of Norway, and at various places on the southern and western coasts of Norway, Miss Norem returned to New York September 15, on the S.S. Stavangerfjord. Miss Norem made her trip abroad in the company of Miss Anne Pearson, of Bryant, Wisconsin.

How Honest Shall We Be? To be Discussed at Forum

How honest shall a Lawrence student be?—This question will again be discussed at the Y. M. C. A. forum tonight in the Library at 7 o'clock. Winfred Bird, '26, who will lead in the discussion, says that both faculty and students are invited to present their views and that everybody will be given an opportunity to talk.

The faculty has granted the petition of the "Y" cabinet requesting their cooperation in making Thursday night from 7 until 8 the official Y. M. C. A. hour, and in avoiding as far as possible interferences from other conflicting campus dates. This will make it possible to have practically every Lawrence man out to the "Y" forum discussions on vital campus problems.

Dr. Baker to Preside at W.A.F.L.T. Convention

Dr. L. C. Baker will preside over the French section at the convention of the Wisconsin Association of Foreign Language Teachers at Milwaukee on Saturday morning, November 7. This meeting is in connection with the annual teachers' convention held in Milwaukee.

The French teachers will have a round-table discussion of the question of maintaining interest in second year French. This is a serious problem, for many students who are not really interested in the language go into second year with the sole idea of fulfilling a requirement.

Mrs. William L. Crowe, wife of Professor Crowe, has been teaching the nine o'clock survey class during the illness of Prof. Robert H. Hannum. Mrs. Crowe was formerly a member of the Lawrence faculty when she taught composition here several years ago.

Appleton is Third Best City of 10,000 in State

Lawrence College is located in the third best city of Wisconsin in the class having a population of 10,000 and over. This was announced at Stevens Point a week ago Wednesday, at the closing session of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work. Kenosha was awarded first place and Oshkosh second. The first prize was a check for $1,000, the second a plaque, and the third a silver loving cup. Appleton scored high in city planning and industry, being second in these fields.

Appleton entered the contest about a year ago, the Chamber of Commerce being largely responsible for the city's participation. The late Dr. Samuel Plantz was active in naming committees for reports. These committees prepared information of the various activities and aspects of the city, and bound their reports in book form. The judges stated that their surveys were the most informative and attractive of any placed before them.

The following Lawrence professors worked on committees: Dr. Wilson S. Naylor on the general committee; Prof. L. A. Boettiger, chairman of the social welfare committee, on which Dr. J. R. Denyes also served; Dr. D. O. Kinsman, chairman of the education committee, of which Prof. James L. Mursell was a member; Prof. O. P. Fairfield, chairman of the city planning committee; Miss Winnifred Fahrenkamp, library committee.

Is Week-end Studying Popular or Necessary

Dormitory lobbies are experiencing their first bit of competition! Co-eds have a new rival to fear—the gayly colored collateral book on the library shelf.

Even the most cynical professor can no longer doubt our studious inclinations since enough students used the library Friday evening to warrant its being kept open at that time hereafter, according to Miss Winifred Fahrenkamp, librarian.

If interest in week-end studying becomes so prevalent that Friday night does not provide ample time, it is possible that the library will be open Saturday evenings also.
